DETAILED ACTION

1. This office action is in response to communication filed on Dec. 17, 2003.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

- (e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.
- 3. Claims 1-2 and 6-7are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Kawai (US2003/015046).

Regarding claims 1-2 and 6-7, Kawai discloses a communication apparatus, communication system and communication setting method, comprising: a storage section for storing the set frequency bands, variable values for the respective frequency bands, and a frequency band used for a normal service operation (see fig.2A or 2B, fig.4, element 84 and its description); a power supply section for supplying a power for performing the normal service operation in accordance with an input command (its is inherent in telecommunication device): a comparison section for determining whether a received frequency is synchronized with spaced frequencies set in the frequency band used for the normal service operation and stored in the storage section, if the power is supplied (see fig.2A or 2B, fig.4, element 83 and its description); a determining section for determining whether the synchronized frequency is included in the frequency band used for the normal service operation, if the received frequency is synchronized at least once with the spaced frequencies (see fig.2A or 2B, fig.4, element 85 and its description); and a control section for selecting the frequency band used for the normal service operation as an operational frequency band, if the synchronized frequency is included in the frequency band used for the normal service operation (see fig.2A or 2B, element 110, fig.4, element 81 and its description).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

- 4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:
  - (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.
- 5. Claims 3-4, and 8-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kawai (US2003/015046) in view of Lee (US 6,393,279).

Regarding claims 3-4 and 8-9, Kawai discloses all the subject matters described in rejected claims 1 and 6, except for the frequency bands stored in the storage section include at least one of a frequency band allocated to a personal communication system (PCS) and a frequency band including a global system for mobile communication (GSM) and a digital cellular system (DCS). However, Lee discloses method for selecting cells in multiband system includes at least one of a frequency band allocated to a personal communication system (PCS) and a frequency band including a global system for mobile communication (GSM) and a digital cellular system (DCS) (see fig.1, element cell 9, cell 14, col.1, lines 10-19, lines 50-col.2, lines3 and its description). Thus, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use the Lee selecting cell in multiband system in Kawai's invention in order to prevent unnecessary cell selecting performed at an overlapped area of two cells using different frequency band, which causes a reduction in a battery run time.

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Claims 5 and 10 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
